

Call for Papers

Annual Conference
Swedish Network for European Studies in Economics and Business

Trade-related infrastructure and the resilience of supply chains

May 9-10, 2023

Grand Hotel, Lund, Sweden.

Keynote Speakers

Cecilia Malmström

Non-resident Senior Fellow at the Peterson Institute for International Economics. Previously European Commissioner for Trade (2014-2019) and Home Affairs (2010-2014), Swedish Minister for EU Affairs (2006-2010) and Member of the European Parliament (1999-2006)

Claudia Steinwender

Professor, Ludwig Maximilian University of Munich (LMU), Associate Editor at the Journal of International Economics

Starting this year, the SNEE conference will be held in April or May every year. The theme of this year's conference is "Trade-related infrastructure and the resilience of supply chains". Papers relating to that area are particularly welcome, but all papers relating to trade and economic integration, broadly defined, will be considered for presentation. Examples of interesting issues include, but are not limited to:

- Trade and national security
- The economics of sanctions
- The relationship between the EU and the UK
- Trade and the environment
- Trade and populism
- Trade shocks versus technological change
- Economic integration and income inequality
- The prospects for new trade agreements, such as TTIP
- The economics of the war in Ukraine
- International trade and labor market outcomes
- Non-tariff barriers to trade
- The future of the WTO – what role can the EU play?
- Firm-level responses to economic integration

Proposals

Please submit your paper (full paper or long abstract) to snee@ehl.lu.se no later than March 17. Papers within economics and business administration are prioritized, but we also welcome submissions from other fields, such as political science and law, if they are relevant for the theme of the conference.

Summary of conference details

Arranged by: The Swedish Network for European Studies in Economics and Business.

Conference organizer: Maria Persson

Time: May 9-10, 2023. We'll begin in the morning of May 9, and end in the early afternoon on May 10.

Venue: Grand Hotel, Lund.

Conference language: English.

Format: The conference will be held in person. All accepted papers will get approximately 30 minutes for presentation and discussion.

Costs: The conference – including lunches and dinner – is free of charge for all participants. We will also cover costs for travel and accommodation for all people whose paper is accepted for presentation. We may also be able to cover travel-related costs for non-presenting participants – please send an email to snee@ehl.lu.se for more information.

Intended audience: In addition to academic scholars, including PhD students, the conference warmly welcomes people from the policy community, such as NGOs or government agencies.

Deadline for paper submissions: March 17, 2023.

Notification of acceptance: No later than March 24, 2023.

Deadline for registration: March 31, 2023. Registration and all conference-related information will soon be available at: <https://nek.lu.se/en/research/Networks/SNEE>

Contact: Please send all submissions and inquiries to snee@ehl.lu.se.